INTRODUCTION.

The articles enumerated in this catalogue form the Massachusetts Colonial Loan Collection sent to the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition at Hampton Roads, Va., 1907, and were secured by the Board of Managers for Massachusetts with the co-operation of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames, and prepared for exhibition by a Committee of Experts.

With few exceptions, everything in the exhibit belongs to the so-called "colonial" period. Within this period are found the articles of American and English silver which were then in use in Massachusetts. The miniatures were painted in the years between 1600 and 1810. The fans, laces, embroidery and costumes were all owned or used in Massachusetts families during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The interesting collection of autographs of distinguished citizens of Massachusetts, and the complete collection of books of Massachusetts authors, printers and publishers, are all of the period prior to the Revolution. Some of the portraits and framed photographs which appear in the list were placed in the Massachusetts State Building by permission of their owners. The rest of the collection is exhibited exclusively in the fireproof History Building. The Board of Managers take this opportunity to make grateful acknowledgment to all who have contributed to this collection by the loan of articles, and especially to the Committee of the Colonial Dames of Massachusetts, who have had the charge of collecting the exhibits, and to the Committee of Experts.
